Position description

Team member / Camp Support worker

We love welcoming support workers to camp and offer the chance to enjoy and take part of our unique offering of support for our Autistic and ADHD children and their families.

Our camps are designed to meet sensory needs and support Autistic communication and friendship, in a group environment with activities available to meet a wide range of interests and needs.

We are looking for:

- Blue Card holders
- Disability/NDIS workers screening
- Studies completed towards community/disability support – this can include existing Cert IV students right through to Allied Health studies*
- First aid qualifications
- High energy to open crates, unpack resources with a smile over a busy weekend full of laughs and experiences.
- Experience and understanding supporting Autistic children – parents of autistic and disabled children are especially encouraged to apply.
- LGBTQIA+ friendly.
- Physical requirements – some camps see us walking on uneven granite surfaces, up hills, moving trolleys full of water and items to prepare alternate locations for the weekend events.
- A spirit of adventure and excitement to join in. Please note we do not support or deliver behaviouralist approaches including ABA in supporting our Autistic children.

This is to be emailed through to info@spectrumadventures.com.au by one month following camp.

What does the job entail?

Our camp team help with logistics around each camp – with physical elements at each camp around unpacking and packing up our sensory room and preparing activities and equipment as needed.

You could be helping someone make their first friend, encouraging someone to try an activity they've never done before, or applauding an artistic masterpiece or expression.

If this sounds like you, or someone you know, please reach out – Autism experience is a must – we value lived experience from Neurodivergent people or if you've been supporting someone who is Autistic.

We provide training, tees, laughs and more...

Accommodation is provided at each venue, you'll be working long hours but the time will be full while we create long-lasting memories for our camp families.

Camp typically runs from Friday afternoon until Sunday midday – the behind the scenes action happens outside of this time so you'll be working usually from Friday morning until late Sunday afternoon.

Typically the span of hours might look like:

- Friday 9am-8 pm (we will break in between)
- Saturday 7am - 8pm
- Sunday 7am-1pm

Each camp is different and additional hours may apply outside of this also. Excellent pay rates and conditions.

We have the most wonderful camp team, however as we grow we have the opportunity to include new team members so please send through your EOI or resume details to info@spectrumadventures.com.au
